Supervisor Biane Reminds Mountain Commuters About Crestline Park-n-Ride Lot

CRESTLINE – Board of Supervisors Chairman Paul Biane encourages mountain commuters to take advantage of the Park-n-Ride lot in Crestline.

“With gas prices hovering around $4 a gallon, mountain commuters are looking for ways to save at the pump, and carpooling is a great option for some,” Biane said. “The Crestline Park-n-Ride lot provides commuters with a safe and convenient place to meet up in the morning before heading off to work, and I encourage residents to take advantage of it.”

The lot was constructed in 2006 using Federal Highways Administration grant funds secured by the County Department of Public Works Traffic Division. The 34-space lot is lighted and is open 24 hours a day. No permits or fees are required to park in the lot. The lot is located off of Lake Drive between Paradise Bowl and Sleepy Hollow Cabins.

Residents looking for a carpool partner can search for one at www.CommuteSmart.info. This Web-based service is supported in part by San Bernardino Associated Governments, the County’s transportation agency.

Biane said carpooling is more than just a great way for mountain commuters to save money; it also helps reduce vehicle emissions and conserve resources.

“It can even help commuters get to work and home a little faster by giving them the green light to use the carpool lane,” said Biane, who represents the Crestline communities as the County’s Second District Supervisor.
